Ratings Lowered On Spanish RMBS Transaction TDA Ibercaja 6's Class A, B, And, D Notes Due To Swap Counterparty Risk

Surveillance Credit Analyst:

Isabel Plaza, Madrid (34) 91-788-7203; isabel_plaza@standardandpoors.com

OVERVIEW

- On April 30, 2012, we lowered our long-term rating on Banco Español de Crédito, the swap provider for TDA Ibercaja 6. Remedial actions were taken within the remedy period under the transaction documents. After further analysis, we have concluded that the documented remedies do not comply with our 2012 counterparty criteria or any previously published versions.
- We have conducted our analysis without giving benefit to the swap agreement in this transaction. Following our analysis, we have lowered our ratings on the class A, B, and D notes, and have affirmed our rating on the class C notes.
- TDA Ibercaja 6 is a Spanish RMBS transaction that securitizes a portfolio of first-ranking mortgage loans granted to individuals in Spain to buy a residential property, which Ibercaja Banco originated before 2007.

MADRID (Standard & Poor's) Feb. 28, 2013--Standard & Poor's Ratings Services today lowered its credit ratings on TDA Ibercaja 6, Fondo de Titulizacion de Activos' class A, B, and D notes. At the same time, we have affirmed our rating on the class C notes (see list below).

On April 30, 2012, we lowered our long-term issuer credit rating (ICR) on Banco Español de Crédito S.A. (BBB/Negative/A-2) (see "Negative Rating Actions On 16 Spanish Banks Following Sovereign Downgrade"). On Oct. 15, 2012, we again lowered our long-term ICR on Banco Español de Crédito following our Oct. 10 lowering of our sovereign ratings on the Kingdom of Spain (see "Various Rating Actions On Spanish Financial Institutions Following Sovereign Downgrade, " and "Spain Ratings Lowered To 'BBB-/A-3' On Mounting Economic And Political Risks; Outlook Negative").

Banco Español de Crédito is the swap provider for TDA Ibercaja 6. Following its April 30, 2012 downgrade, it took the remedy actions in accordance with the transaction documents. After further analysis, we have concluded that the documented remedies are not in line with our 2012 counterparty criteria or with any previously published versions ("Counterparty Risk Framework Methodology And Assumptions," published on Nov. 29, 2012). Therefore, while giving benefit to the swap in our analysis, the maximum rating achievable by the notes in this transaction is the long-term ICR on the swap provider. We have conducted our analysis without giving benefit to the swap agreement to see if the notes are able to achieve a rating higher than the long-term ICR on the swap provider ('BBB').

In accordance with our 2012 counterparty criteria and using the latest available portfolio and structural features information, we have conducted a credit, cash flow, and structural analysis--with and without giving benefit to the swap agreement.

This transaction has experienced an increasing level of long-term delinquencies. As of Dec. 31, 2012, 90+ days arrears up to defaults (defined in this transaction as loans in arrears for more than 18 months), represented 1.32% of the outstanding balance of the pool, which is almost twice the previous year's level. Cumulative defaults now represent 1.35% of the initial balance of the pool. The transaction's performance has slightly deteriorated and the reserve fund has been partially used to cure defaults in the underlying portfolio since August 2012.

The swap agreement in this transaction provides a significant amount of support to the structure. The swap counterparty pays three-month EURIBOR (Euro Interbank Offered Rate) plus a margin of 60 basis points (bps), plus servicing fees if the servicer is replaced. While in the scenarios where we assume that there is no swap agreement, interest income (in addition to three-month EURIBOR) is limited to the margin on the pool, which as of Dec. 31, 2012 was 53 bps--after assuming margin compression and further stresses.

In our cash flow analysis without giving benefit to the swap agreement, none of the classes of notes has experienced a sufficient increase in credit enhancement to allow it to support a rating higher than the long-term 'BBB' ICR on the swap counterparty. Since we first rated this transaction (February 2011), the credit enhancement for the class A notes has increased to 9.03% from 7.73% and for the class B notes to 6.14% from 5.29%. Therefore, the maximum rating that the class A and B notes can achieve in scenarios without giving benefit to the swap agreement is 'BBB (sf)', which is the long-term ICR on the swap provider, Banco Español de Crédito. We have therefore lowered our ratings on the class A and B notes to 'BBB (sf)' from 'A+ (sf)' and 'A- (sf)', respectively.

Ratings Lowered On Spanish RMBS Transaction TDA Ibercaja 6's Class A, B, And, D Notes Due To Swap Counterparty Risk

We analyzed the class C and D notes, which we already rate below the long-term ICR on Banco Español de Crédito, while giving benefit to the swap agreement. The maximum ratings that the class C and D notes can achieve under this assumption are 'BBB- (sf)' and 'BB- (sf)', respectively. We have therefore lowered to 'BB- (sf)' from 'BB (sf)' our rating on the class D notes and have affirmed our 'BBB- (sf)' rating on the class C notes.

Should the remedy actions under the transaction documents be amended to comply with our 2012 counterparty criteria, we would conduct further analysis giving benefit to the swap and take rating actions accordingly. All else being equal, only the class A notes could achieve a rating above the long-term ICR on the swap provider if such amendments take place.

TDA Ibercaja 6 is a residential mortgage-backed securities (RMBS) transaction issued by Ibercaja Banco S.A. It securitizes a portfolio of first-ranking mortgage loans granted to individuals in Spain to buy a residential property.
