FITCH AFFIRMS BANKINTER 7 & 9

Fitch Ratings-London-10 April 2014: Fitch Ratings has affirmed Bankinter 7 FTH and Bankinter 9 FTA. The Outlooks on the mezzanine and junior tranches have been revised to Stable from Negative. A full list of rating actions is at the end of this commentary.

Bankinter 7 and Bankinter 9 are Spanish prime RMBS comprising loans originated by Bankinter (not rated).

KEY RATING DRIVERS

Solid Performance of Underlying Assets

The affirmations reflect the relatively stable performance of the underlying assets. As of end-February, three month plus arrears (excluding defaults) ranged from 0.72% (Bankinter 7) to 0.93% (Bankinter 9, Series T) of the current collateral balance, which are both well below Fitch's Spanish RMBS index (2.5%). Cumulative gross defaults (defined as loans in arrears by more than 18 months) ranged from 0.28% (Bankinter 7) to 0.37% (Bankinter 9, Series T) of the initial collateral balance.

Given the low pipeline of late-stage arrears across the transactions, Fitch expects performance to remain stable over the coming year. This view is reflected in the Stable Outlook on the rated notes.

Limited Reserve Fund Drawings

Although defaults have remained limited, the excess spread in Bankinter 7 and Bankinter 9 Series (T) was insufficient to fully provision for defaulted loans on the last payment date, resulting in a limited draw of the reserve funds. At present, the reserve funds stand at 98.7% and 99.4% of their target amounts. Fitch expects further reserve draws to be limited, given that arrears have remained at subdued levels.

Ineligible Swap Counterparty

Bankinter is the basis swap provider in the two transactions. On 6 July 2011, Fitch downgraded Bankinter's Long- and Short-term IDR to 'BBB+/'F2' from 'A/'F1' and withdrew the rating. This means that Bankinter is no longer considered an eligible counterparty under Fitch's counterparty criteria for notes rated 'AA-sf' and higher. Fitch has therefore not given credit to the basis swap in its analysis. However, the agency's analysis shows that the credit enhancement available to the notes is sufficient to withstand the stresses arising from the absence of a swap.

RATING SENSITIVITIES

An increase in defaults and associated pressure on excess spread levels and reserve funds beyond Fitch's expectations could result in negative rating actions.
