FITCH AFFIRMS BBVA CONSUMO 1'S AND 2'S CLASS A NOTES; UPGRADES B AND C NOTES

Fitch Ratings-London/Madrid-22 June 2012: Fitch Ratings has affirmed BBVA Consumo 1 and BBVA Consumo 2's class A notes, and upgraded the B and C notes as follows:

BBVA Consumo 1

EUR146.7m class A notes: affirmed at 'AA-sf'; Outlook Negative

EUR28.5m class B notes: upgraded to 'BBB+sf' from 'BBBsf'; Outlook Stable

EUR24.0m class C notes: upgraded to 'BBBsf' from 'Bsf'; Outlook Stable

BBVA Consumo 2

EUR241.1m class A notes: affirmed at 'AA-sf'; Outlook Negative

EUR16.5m class B notes: upgraded to 'BBB+sf' from 'BBBsf'; Outlook Stable

EUR42.8m class C notes: upgraded to 'BBsf' from 'Bsf'; Outlook Stable

The affirmation of the class A notes of each transaction, as well as the upgrades of the B and C notes, reflect the availability of significant credit enhancement and the improving performance. The ratings and Negative Outlook on the class A of each transaction are however constrained by the cap applied by Fitch to transactions originated in Spain, and the rating of the Spanish sovereign ('BBB'/Negative). The Negative Outlook on the class A notes indicates that the notes would be downgraded if Spain was further downgraded.

As a result of its downgrade to 'BBB+/'Negative/'F2' from 'A/'Negative/'F1' on 11 June 2012, Banco Bilbao Vizcaya Argentaria S.A. (BBVA) is no longer an eligible counterparty to support the 'AA-sf' ratings of the class A notes. The rating of the class A notes may be downgraded if BBVA fails to take, within 30 days, any action to remedy its counterparty exposure arising from its roles in the transaction as the provider of the collection account, issuer account and swap. The transactions' latent counterparty risk to BBVA also limited the upgrade of the class B notes of each transaction.

The reserve fund of BBVA Consumo 1 is back to its target level while the one for BBVA Consumo 2 has almost fully replenished thanks to available excess spread. Cumulative default rates remain above original base cases but their pace of increase has slowed down. Fitch has adjusted its analysis to reflect lower than expected recovery rates in both transactions; recoveries amount to 20% and 17% of the defaulted balance to date for Consumo 1 and 2, respectively, as opposed to the 40% initially assumed by the agency. The transactions benefit from sizeable excess spread however, at around 325bps of each portfolio's performing balance, which is also reflected in Fitch's analysis.

As of June 2012, BBVA Consumo 1 had amortised to 13.28% of its original balance while BBVA Consumo 2 had amortised to 20.03%. The revolving periods terminated in April 2008 and September 2008, respectively, and no early amortisation events have occurred.

BBVA Consumo 1 and BBVA Consumo 2 are true sale securitisations of a pool of consumer loans originated in Spain by BBVA. The two transactions have similar structures, with the main difference being that BBVA Consumo 2 had a significant portion (44%) of collateral linked to auto loans.
