Fitch Upgrades 4 Tranches of Bancaja 9 & 13

Fitch Ratings-Madrid/London-18 April 2018: Fitch Ratings has upgraded four tranches of Bancaja 9, FTA and Bancaja 13, FTA and affirmed two tranches. All tranches have been removed from Rating Watch Evolving (RWE). A full list of rating actions is at the end of this rating action commentary.

The transactions are static securitisations of Spanish mortgage loans, issued between 2006 and 2008, comprising seasoned loans originated and serviced by Bankia, S.A. (BBB-/Positive/F3). The removal of the RWE follows the implementation of Fitch's new European RMBS Rating Criteria. The ratings were initially placed on RWE on 5 October 2017.

KEY RATING DRIVERS

Stable Asset Performance

Both transactions show a stable asset performance with three-month plus arrears (excluding defaults) as a percentage of the current pool balance decreasing further or remaining stable at low levels in the range of 1% for Bancaja 9 to 1.7% for Bancaja 13. This is in line with Fitch's expectation of an improved real estate market and macroeconomic environment in Spain.

Payment Interruption Risk

Bancaja 9 is exposed to payment interruption risk as the available structural mitigant - the reserve fund (reduced by expected losses) - is considered insufficient to cover senior fees, net swap payments and class A note interest in the event of a servicer disruption. However, as collections are swept on a daily basis to the issuer account and are held with a regulated bank (Bankia S.A.), operational risks are minimised. In line with Fitch's Structured Finance and Covered Bonds Counterparty Rating Criteria, Bancaja 9's notes' ratings are only considered commensurate with ratings in the 'Asf' category.

Counterparty Cap

Bancaja 13's class A notes' rating is capped at the 'Asf' category, which is the maximum achievable rating where the account bank replacement triggers are set at 'BBB+' or 'F2'.

Credit Enhancement Trends

Both transactions are currently amortising sequentially. However, transaction documents include pro-rata amortisation triggers that Fitch took into account when modelling the liability structure.

Reserve Fund Replenishment

Both Bancaja 9 and 13 reserve funds are below the required amount. Gross excess spread and recoveries in Bancaja 9 and 13 have been sufficient to cover period defaults and partially replenish the reserve funds, so that they currently stand at around 60% and 73% of their respective targets.

RATING SENSITIVITIES

Deterioration in asset performance may result from economic factors, in particular the increasing effect of unemployment. A corresponding increase in new defaults and associated pressure on excess spread levels and reserve funds could result in negative rating action.

USE OF THIRD-PARTY DUE DILIGENCE PURSUANT TO RULE 17G-10

Form ABS Due Diligence-15E was not provided to, or reviewed by, Fitch in relation to this rating action.

DATA ADEQUACY

Fitch has checked the consistency and plausibility of the information it has received about the performance of the asset portfolios and the transaction. There were no findings that affected the rating analysis. Fitch has not reviewed the results of any third party assessment of the asset portfolio information or conducted a review of origination files as part of its ongoing monitoring.

Fitch did not undertake a review of the information provided about the underlying asset pool ahead of the Bancaja 9 initial closing. The subsequent performance of the transaction over the years is consistent with the agency's expectations given the operating environment and Fitch is therefore satisfied that the asset pool information relied upon for its initial rating analysis was adequately reliable.

Prior to assignment of ratings to Bancaja 13 in August 2011, Fitch reviewed the results of a third party assessment conducted on the asset portfolio information ahead of initial closing in December 2008, which indicated no adverse findings that was material to the rating analysis.

Overall, Fitch's assessment of the information relied upon for the agency's rating analysis according to its applicable rating methodologies indicates that it is adequately reliable.

Fitch conducts a reasonable investigation of the factual information relied upon by it in accordance with its ratings methodology, and obtains reasonable verification of that information from independent sources, to the extent such sources are available for a given security or in a given jurisdiction. The manner of Fitch's factual investigation and the scope of the third-party verification it obtains will vary depending on the nature of the rated security and its issuer, the requirements and practices in the jurisdiction in which the rated security is offered and sold and/or the issuer is located, the availability and nature of relevant public information, access to the management of the issuer and its advisers, the availability of pre-existing third-party verifications such as audit reports, agreed-upon procedures letters, appraisals, actuarial reports, engineering reports, legal opinions and other reports provided by third parties, the availability of independent and competent third-party verification sources with respect to the particular security or in the particular jurisdiction of the issuer, and a variety of other factors. Users of Fitch's ratings and reports should understand that neither an enhanced factual investigation nor any third-party verification can ensure that all of the information Fitch relies on in connection with a rating or a report will be accurate and complete. Ultimately, the issuer and its advisers are responsible for the accuracy of the information they provide to Fitch and to the market in offering documents and other reports. In issuing its ratings and its reports, Fitch must rely on the work of experts, including independent auditors with respect to financial statements and attorneys with respect to legal and tax matters. Further, ratings and forecasts of financial and other information are inherently forward-looking and embody assumptions and predictions about future events that by their nature cannot be verified as facts. As a result, despite any verification of current facts, ratings and forecasts can be affected by future events or conditions that were not anticipated at the time a rating or forecast was issued or affirmed.
