Rating Action: Moody's takes actions on multiple EMEA RMBS and ABS notes' ratings

Global Credit Research - 20 Mar 2015

London, 20 March 2015 -- Moody's Investors Service has today taken rating actions on asset-backed securities (ABS) and residential mortgage-backed securities (RMBS) transactions across Europe, the Middle East and Africa (EMEA), after the rating agency updated several of its structured finance rating methodologies, combined with the rating review placements for certain banks that its revised bank methodology triggered (http://www.moody.com/viewresearchdoc.aspx?docid=PR_321005).

Specifically, Moody's has placed 504 notes on review for upgrade and 9 notes on review for downgrade across 182 EMEA RMBS deals, and 42 EMEA ABS deals.

Moody's has updated several cross-sector, primary and secondary rating methodologies for structured finance securities, to incorporate a new counterparty risk (CR) Assessment introduced for banks as part of its revised bank rating methodology (http://www.moody.com/viewresearchdoc.aspx?docid=PBC_179038).

The updates to the structured finance rating methodologies combined with rating review placements for certain banks prompted today's rating review actions on the ABS and RMBS notes. Please refer to the announcement of the changes to Moody's global approach to rating structured finance transactions and covered bonds released on 16 March 2015. (http://www.moody.com/viewresearchdoc.aspx?docid=PR_320674).

Please click on this http://www.moody.com/viewresearchdoc.aspx?docid=PBS_SF400160 for the List of Affected Credit Ratings. This list is an integral part of this Press Release and identifies each affected issuer.

RATINGS RATIONALE

Today's rating actions reflect (1) the updates to Moody's structured finance rating methodologies to incorporate the new CR Assessment for banks; and (2) the rating review actions of banks resulting from its revised bank methodology.

The updates to the structured finance rating methodologies have an overall positive rating impact on EMEA ABS and RMBS transactions. In the European Union, the CR Assessment will generally be at least at bank deposit rating level, leading to the placement on review for upgrade of 504 notes across 220 EMEA ABS and RMBS. Moody's has placed on review for downgrade 9 notes in 4 EMEA RMBS following the placement on review for downgrade of some key counterparties' deposit rating and/or senior unsecured rating.

--- INTRODUCTION OF NEW COUNTERPARTY RISK (CR) ASSESSMENT

Moody's introduced a new CR Assessment for banks as part of its revised bank rating methodology. The CR Assessment reflects an issuer's ability to avoid defaulting on certain obligations and contractual commitments, to include payment obligations associated with derivatives, letters of credit, third-party guarantees, servicing and trustee obligations and other operational obligations.

For the EU, Moody's expects that the probability of failing to maintain these key operations or of defaulting on the relevant payment obligations could be lower than indicated by the senior unsecured debt ratings. The CR Assessment will therefore be likely positioned at least at the level of bank deposit ratings.

Moody's uses internal guidance on the CR Assessments to assess the rating impact on outstanding structured finance transactions. The internal guidance is in line with the guidance published in its updated bank rating methodology and its responses to frequently asked bank methodology-related questions.

Where relevant, the approximate CR Assessment values used in structured finance credit analysis will factor in guidance on expected changes to the baseline credit assessment (BCA), senior unsecured debt and bank deposit ratings.

UPDATES TO THE STRUCTURED FINANCE RATING METHODOLOGIES

Moody's has updated several of its cross-sector methodologies to incorporate the CR Assessments in its analysis of structured finance transactions. Moody's now matches banks' exposure in structured finance transactions to one of the three reference points: either the CR Assessment, bank deposit rating or senior unsecured rating.

Moody's uses CR Assessments to measure the risk of default for (1) operational risk exposures (including exposures to servicers, cash managers and trustees); (2) exposures to swap counterparties; and (3) exposures to servicers in relation to commingling risk.

Moody's uses the bank deposit rating to measure the default risk for exposures associated with account banks and set-off. Additionally, for bank-related exposures -- e.g., deposits held at a defaulting bank -- Moody's now assumes a recovery rate of 45% in instances when the risk is measured or modelled.

Moody's uses the senior unsecured debt rating for senior unsecured debt and other exposures that carry similar credit risks.

--- ANTICIPATED COMPLETION OF THE PLACEMENTS ON REVIEW

Moody's expects to conclude the majority of the structured finance rating reviews in the first half of 2015. The timeline to resolve these reviews will depend on the resolution process applied to the underlying bank ratings, as well as the assignment of CR Assessments.

Additionally, some of the ratings already on review for upgrade in EMEA RMBS and ABS are also impacted by the revised methodology even if not included in today's action. These ratings will be reviewed considering the revised methodologies.

FACTORS THAT WOULD LEAD TO AN UPGRADE OR DOWNGRADE OF THE RATINGS:

Factors or circumstances that could lead to an upgrade of the ratings are (1) a lower probability of high-loss scenarios owing to an upgrade of the country ceiling; (2) performance of the underlying collateral that exceeds Moody's expectations; (3) deleveraging of the capital structure; and (4) improvements in the credit quality of the transaction counterparties.

Factors or circumstances that could lead to a downgrade of the ratings are (1) an increased probability of high-loss scenarios owing to a downgrade of the country ceiling; (2) performance of the underlying collateral that does not meet Moody's expectations; (3) deterioration in the notes' available CE; and (4) deterioration in the credit quality of the transaction counterparties.

Moody's National Scale Credit Ratings (NSRs) are intended as relative measures of creditworthiness among debt issues and issuers within a country, enabling market participants to better differentiate relative risks. NSRs differ from Moody's global scale credit ratings in that they are not globally comparable with the full universe of Moody's rated entities, but only with NSRs for other rated debt issues and issuers within the same country. NSRs are designated by a ".nn" country modifier signifying the relevant country, as in ".za" for South Africa. For further information on Moody's approach to national scale credit ratings, please refer to Moody's Credit rating Methodology published in June 2014 entitled "Mapping Moody's National Scale Ratings to Global Scale Ratings".

- 1) The analysis relies on an assessment of collateral characteristics to determine the collateral loss distribution, that is, the function that correlates to an assumption about the likelihood of occurrence to each level of possible losses in the collateral. As a second step, Moody's evaluates each possible collateral loss scenario using a model that replicates the relevant structural features to derive payments and therefore the ultimate potential losses for each r.
- 2) Moody's did not use any models, or loss or cash flow analysis, in its analysis.
- 3) Moody's quantitative analysis entails an evaluation of scenarios that stress factors contributing to sensitivity of ratings and take into account the likelihood of severe collateral losses or impaired cash flows. Moody's weights the impact on the rated instruments based on its assumptions of the likelihood of the events in such scenarios occurring.
- 4) Moody's did not use any stress scenario simulations in its analysis.
