The Autorité des Marchés Financiers (AMF) updates the list of unauthorised websites offering binary options trading

The AMF is publishing a new updated list of websites offering binary options trading, for which no authorised investment services provider could be clearly identified.

The Autorité des Marchés Financiers (AMF) is once again warning retail investors against aggressive internet advertising campaigns for binary option trading¹, announcing very high yields in very short periods of time.

Here is the new list which cancels and supersedes that published on 12 September 2013.

NB: these websites may change very quickly and this list is not intended to be exhaustive.

As a general rule, before committing yourself, you should always check that the financial intermediary offering or recommending such investments features on the list of financial institutions authorised to do business in France (<https://www.regafi.fr>). Any unauthorised intermediaries run the risk of criminal sanctions.

If the intermediary in question is not on these lists, we strongly recommend that you do not respond to their offers.
