In offer documentation previously published, the Banks stated that the consideration described in such documentation assumes the payment by ABN AMRO of an interim (cash or share) dividend in respect of 2007 in an amount not to exceed €0.55 per ABN AMRO ordinary share (before deduction of any applicable withholding taxes), and that if ABN AMRO declared an interim (cash or share) dividend in respect of 2007 in excess of €0.55 per ABN AMRO ordinary share (before deduction of any applicable withholding taxes) the consideration may be reduced by an amount equal to such excess (before deduction of any applicable withholding taxes). ABN AMRO has announced that its interim dividend in respect of 2007 will be €0.58 per ABN AMRO ordinary share (before deduction of any applicable withholding taxes). The Banks have determined that, despite this amount being in excess of €0.55, the consideration will not be reduced in respect of such excess.

Forward-Looking Statements

This announcement includes certain “forward-looking statements”. These statements are based on the current expectations of the Banks and are naturally subject to uncertainty and changes in certain circumstances. Forward-looking statements include any synergy statements and, without limitation, other statements typically containing words such as “intends”, “expects”, “anticipates”, “targets”, “plans”, “estimates” and words of similar import. By their nature, forward-looking statements involve risk and uncertainty because they relate to events and depend on circumstances that will occur in the future. There are a number of factors that could cause actual results and developments to differ materially from those expressed or implied by such forward-looking statements. These factors include, but are not limited to, the presence of a competitive offer for ABN AMRO, whether the Banks and ABN AMRO enter into any definitive agreement with respect to the potential acquisition of ABN AMRO, satisfaction of any conditions to the offer, including the receipt of required regulatory and anti-trust approvals, the successful completion of the offer or any subsequent compulsory acquisition procedure, the anticipated benefits of the offer (including anticipated synergies) not being realized, the separation and integration of ABN AMRO and its assets among the Banks being materially delayed or more costly or difficult than expected, as well as additional factors, such as changes in economic conditions, changes in the regulatory environment, fluctuations in interest and exchange rates, the outcome of litigation and government actions. Other unknown or unpredictable factors could cause actual results to differ materially from those in the forward-looking statements. None of the Banks undertake any obligation to update publicly or revise forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise, except to the extent legally required.
