XX November 2021

The operator of Luton Airport, the consortium London Luton Airport Operations Ltd. (LLAOL), of which Aena owns 51%, and the landlord of the airport owned by Luton town council have agreed to a set of measures intended to sustainably recover the London Airport in the wake of the severe impact of the COVID-19 pandemic.

The agreement includes a reduction in the concession fee of £45 million, a 16.5-month extension of the concession (from 31/03/2031 to 15/08/2032) and a series of social impact measures, such as a commitment by LLAOL to promote local employment and to more ambitious environmental sustainability plans.

The Airport will apply the "Real Living Wage" to its contracts and will accelerate the implementation of environmental sustainability measures, such as the Net Zero Carbon Emissions strategy.

The agreement is a sign of support for the thousands of people who depend on the airport and the numerous local and regional companies in the supply chain.

For Alberto Martín, the airport's CEO, "the pandemic has been the greatest crisis in aviation history and this agreement lets us prepare for a successful future, while inspiring peace of mind for thousands of people and for the many local companies that rely on us".
