TRANSACTION SUMMARY

The static Spanish RMBS transactions comprise fully amortising residential mortgages originated and serviced by multiple rural savings banks in Spain with a back-up servicer arrangement with Banco Cooperativo Espanol, S.A. (BBB/Stable/F2).

KEY RATING DRIVERS

Stable Performance Outlook: Fitch maintains a neutral asset performance outlook for eurozone RMBS, supported by stable labour market conditions despite continued high interest rates (see "2024 Sector Outlooks - Mid-Year Update (Excel)" dated 21 June 2024.). Although the transactions have exposure to riskier self-employed borrowers (around 17% for Rural VIII and 19% for Rural IX), they have low shares of loans in arrears over 90 days (less than 1% of outstanding pool balance as of the latest reporting dates, which is below the Spanish average).

They are also protected by the substantial seasoning of the portfolios of around 19 years; and have low current loan-to-value ratios at around 30%. The transactions' cumulative defaults range between 2.2% and 5.1% of the portfolios' initial balances for Rural VIII and IX, respectively, and both deals' cumulative recoveries relative to cumulative defaults have been consistently below expectations. We view both transactions as exposed to tail risk events, considering their low portfolio balances that stand at only around 8% and 13% of the initial portfolio balance as of Apr-24 and May-24.

Sufficient CE: The rating actions reflect Fitch's view that credit enhancement (CE) for the notes is sufficient to fully compensate the credit and cash flow stresses associated with the corresponding ratings. For Rural VIII, we expect CE ratios to increase driven by the mandatory sequential amortisation. We also expect Rural IX's CE ratios to increase in the short term as the 10% portfolio balance triggering the mandatory sequential scheme is very close to breach (at 13.1% of the initial portfolio balance, as of the latest interest payment date).

Counterparty Risks Cap Ratings: Both transactions' class D notes' ratings are capped at the transaction account bank (TAB) provider deposit rating (Societe Generale S.A.; A-/Positive, deposit rating A) as the cash reserves held at this entity represent 100% of total structural CE protection for these notes. The rating cap reflects the excessive counterparty dependence on the TAB holding the cash reserves, noting that simulating the loss of these funds would imply a model-implied downgrade of 10 or more notches in accordance with Fitch's Structured Finance and Covered Bonds Counterparty Rating Criteria.

Moreover, for Rural VIII's class C notes, the Negative Outlook signals the possibility of the rating becoming exposed to excessive counterparty risk in the short-to-medium term, as the contribution to total CE from the cash reserves held at the TAB is 79.5%. For Rural IX's class C notes, we expect the cash reserves held at the TAB as a proportion of total CE to remain stable, due to pro rata amortisation recently being switched off for the class D notes and the near-term switch to mandatory sequential amortisation.

RATING SENSITIVITIES

Factors that Could, Individually or Collectively, Lead to Negative Rating Action/Downgrade

- For notes rated 'AAAsf', a downgrade of Spain's Long-Term Issuer Default Rating (IDR) could decrease the maximum achievable rating for Spanish structured finance transactions. This is because the notes are capped at the maximum achievable rating in Spain, six notches above the sovereign IDR.

- Long-term asset performance deterioration such as increased delinquencies or larger defaults, which could be driven by changes to macroeconomic conditions, interest rate increases or borrower behaviour. For instance, a combined scenario of increased defaults and decreased recoveries by 15% each could trigger downgrades of up to two notches.

Factors that Could, Individually or Collectively, Lead to Positive Rating Action/Upgrade

For both transactions, stable to improved asset performance driven by stable delinquencies and defaults would lead to increasing CE and potentially upgrades. For instance, a combination of decreased defaults and increased recoveries by 15% each could trigger upgrades of up to five notches.

DATA ADEQUACY

Rural Hipotecario IX, FTA, Rural Hipotecario VIII, FTA

Fitch has checked the consistency and plausibility of the information it has received about the performance of the asset pools and the transactions. Fitch has not reviewed the results of any third-party assessment of the asset portfolio information or conducted a review of origination files as part of its ongoing monitoring.

Fitch did not undertake a review of the information provided about the underlying asset pools ahead of the transactions' initial closing. The subsequent performance of the transactions over the years is consistent with the agency's expectations given the operating environment and Fitch is therefore satisfied that the asset pool information relied upon for its initial rating analysis was adequately reliable.

For Rural VIII, regarding the determination of the triggers related the class B, C and D interest subordination, the trustee reports reflect that principal deficiency ledger thresholds are compared against the notes' outstanding balances, in order to protect unpaid principal amounts senior to junior interest payments throughout the life of the transaction.

Overall, and together with any assumptions referred to above, Fitch's assessment of the information relied upon for the agency's rating analysis according to its applicable rating methodologies indicates that it is adequately reliable.

PUBLIC RATINGS WITH CREDIT LINKAGE TO OTHER RATINGS

The class D notes in both transactions are capped at the TAB's Deposit Rating due to excessive counterparty exposure, as the reserve fund is the sole source of the CE for these notes.

ESG CONSIDERATIONS

The highest level of ESG credit relevance is a score of '3', unless otherwise disclosed in this section. A score of '3' means ESG issues are credit-neutral or have only a minimal credit impact on the entity, either due to their nature or the way in which they are being managed by the entity. Fitch's ESG Relevance Scores are not inputs in the rating process; they are an observation on the relevance and materiality of ESG factors in the rating decision. In issuing and maintaining its ratings and in making other reports (including forecast information), Fitch relies on factual information it receives from issuers and underwriters and from other sources Fitch believes to be credible. Fitch conducts a reasonable investigation of the factual information relied upon by it in accordance with its ratings methodology, and obtains reasonable verification of that information from independent sources, to the extent such sources are available for a given security or in a given jurisdiction. The manner of Fitch's factual investigation and the scope of the third-party verification it obtains will vary depending on the nature of the rated security and its issuer, the requirements and practices in the jurisdiction in which the rated security is offered and sold and/or the issuer is located, the availability and nature of relevant public information, access to the management of the issuer and its advisers, the availability of pre-existing third-party verifications such as audit reports, agreed-upon procedures letters, appraisals, actuarial reports, engineering reports, legal opinions and other reports provided by third parties, the availability of independent and competent third-party verification sources with respect to the particular security or in the particular jurisdiction of the issuer, and a variety of other factors. Users of Fitch's ratings and reports should understand that neither an enhanced factual investigation nor any third-party verification can ensure that all of the information Fitch relies on in connection with a rating or a report will be accurate and complete. Ultimately, the issuer and its advisers are responsible for the accuracy of the information they provide to Fitch and to the market in offering documents and other reports. In issuing its ratings and its reports, Fitch must rely on the work of experts, including independent auditors with respect to financial statements and attorneys with respect to legal and tax matters. Further, ratings and forecasts of financial and other information are inherently forward-looking and embody assumptions and predictions about future events that by their nature cannot be verified as facts. As a result, despite any verification of current facts, ratings and forecasts can be affected by future events or conditions that were not anticipated at the time a rating or forecast was issued or affirmed. Fitch Ratings makes routine, commonly-accepted adjustments to reported financial data in accordance with the relevant criteria and/or industry standards to provide financial metric consistency for entities in the same sector or asset class.

The complete span of best- and worst-case scenario credit ratings for all rating categories ranges from 'AAA' to 'D'. Fitch also provides information on best-case rating upgrade scenarios and worst-case rating downgrade scenarios (defined as the 99th percentile of rating transitions, measured in each direction) for international credit ratings, based on historical performance. A simple average across asset classes presents best-case upgrades of 4 notches and worst-case downgrades of 8 notches at the 99th percentile.
