Transaction Summary

The transactions are backed by mortgages from across France, Italy, The Netherlands, Spain and the UK.

The affected ratings were previously capped at 'A+sf' or 'BB+sf'. This was as per Fitch's previous Global Structured Finance criteria, which limited the ratings on structured finance notes that were deferring or expected to defer interest payments.

Under the previous criteria, notes could be assigned ratings in the 'Asf' or 'BBBsf' categories if their interest deferrals were permitted, not deemed excessive in Fitch's base case and fully recoverable in its analysis. Notes that were projected to incur interest deferrals deemed excessive were capped at the 'BBsf' rating category.

In addition, previously Fitch would not assign ratings in the 'AAsf' category if interest deferrals occurred in its analysis. This limitation has been amended so that it only applies to the 'AAAsf' category, leading to potential upgrades for some notes rated between 'A+sf' and 'AAsf'.

KEY RATING DRIVERS

The primary updates to the criteria are related to Fitch's analytical approach to the interest deferability of notes. Subject to certain conditions, Fitch may now assign ratings up to 'AA+sf' to fully deferrable notes that are incurring or are projected to incur interest deferrals that are fully recovered under the terms of the documents by the legal final maturity, in the relevant rating case for the notes. Under the previous criteria, Fitch assigned ratings up to the 'Asf' rating category for notes with projected interest deferrals.

Changes to the criteria also include the removal of a condition related to the 'excessiveness' of the deferral amount in the base case scenario, which capped the ratings of notes with these deferrals at 'BB+sf'. The removal of this condition means that these notes could be upgraded to investment-grade ratings.

The 'AAA' approach to timely interest payments is unchanged, whereby Fitch will not assign 'AAAsf' ratings to bonds that are projected to defer interest under any rating case scenario, even if deferral is permitted under the terms of the documents. The classes placed on RWP are projected to incur interest deferrals in some rating scenarios, so we do not expect to upgrade them to the 'AAAsf' rating category.

The criteria revisions related to the interest deferability of notes above will also have an indirect impact on how Fitch assesses payment interruption risk (PIR), as per its Structured Finance and Covered Bonds Counterparty Rating Criteria. We will consider PIR immaterial for bonds rated up to 'AA+sf' (versus 'A+sf' previously), when interest payments can be deferred without causing an event of default.

RATING SENSITIVITIES

Factors that Could, Individually or Collectively, Lead to Negative Rating Action/Downgrade

Deterioration in asset performance, lower than anticipated recoveries or other adverse changes in market conditions and the economic environment may lead to downgrades, despite the update to Fitch's Global Structured Finance Criteria.

Factors that Could, Individually or Collectively, Lead to Positive Rating Action/Upgrade

Stable to improved asset performance driven by stable delinquencies and defaults would lead to increasing credit enhancement and potential upgrades.

USE OF THIRD PARTY DUE DILIGENCE PURSUANT TO SEC RULE 17G -10

Form ABS Due Diligence-15E was not provided to, or reviewed by, Fitch in relation to this rating action.

DATA ADEQUACY

Fitch has checked the consistency and plausibility of the information it has received about the performance of the asset pools and the transactions. Fitch has not reviewed the results of any third party assessment of the asset portfolio information or conducted a review of origination files as part of its ongoing monitoring.

Fitch did not undertake a review of the information provided about the underlying asset pools ahead of the transactions initial closing. The subsequent performance of the transactions over the years is consistent with the agency's expectations given the operating environment and Fitch is therefore satisfied that the asset pool information relied upon for its initial rating analysis was adequately reliable.

Overall, and together with any assumptions referred to above, Fitch's assessment of the information relied upon for the agency's rating analysis according to its applicable rating methodologies indicates that it is adequately reliable.

In issuing and maintaining its ratings and in making other reports (including forecast information), Fitch relies on factual information it receives from issuers and underwriters and from other sources Fitch believes to be credible. Fitch conducts a reasonable investigation of the factual information relied upon by it in accordance with its ratings methodology, and obtains reasonable verification of that information from independent sources, to the extent such sources are available for a given security or in a given jurisdiction. The manner of Fitch's factual investigation and the scope of the third-party verification it obtains will vary depending on the nature of the rated security and its issuer, the requirements and practices in the jurisdiction in which the rated security is offered and sold and/or the issuer is located, the availability and nature of relevant public information, access to the management of the issuer and its advisers, the availability of pre-existing third-party verifications such as audit reports, agreed-upon procedures letters, appraisals, actuarial reports, engineering reports, legal opinions and other reports provided by third parties, the availability of independent and competent third-party verification sources with respect to the particular security or in the particular jurisdiction of the issuer, and a variety of other factors. Users of Fitch's ratings and reports should understand that neither an enhanced factual investigation nor any third-party verification can ensure that all of the information Fitch relies on in connection with a rating or a report will be accurate and complete. Ultimately, the issuer and its advisers are responsible for the accuracy of the information they provide to Fitch and to the market in offering documents and other reports. In issuing its ratings and its reports, Fitch must rely on the work of experts, including independent auditors with respect to financial statements and attorneys with respect to legal and tax matters. Further, ratings and forecasts of financial and other information are inherently forward-looking and embody assumptions and predictions about future events that by their nature cannot be verified as facts. As a result, despite any verification of current facts, ratings and forecasts can be affected by future events or conditions that were not anticipated at the time a rating or forecast was issued or affirmed. Fitch Ratings makes routine, commonly-accepted adjustments to reported financial data in accordance with the relevant criteria and/or industry standards to provide financial metric consistency for entities in the same sector or asset class.

The complete span of best- and worst-case scenario credit ratings for all rating categories ranges from 'AAA' to 'D'. Fitch also provides information on best-case rating upgrade scenarios and worst-case rating downgrade scenarios (defined as the 99th percentile of rating transitions, measured in each direction) for international credit ratings, based on historical performance. A simple average across asset classes presents best-case upgrades of 4 notches and worst-case downgrades of 8 notches at the 99th percentile. Sector-specific best- and worst-case scenario credit ratings are listed in more detail at <https://www.fitchratings.com/site/re/10238496>

Fitch receives fees from issuers, insurers, guarantors, other obligors, and underwriters for rating securities. Such fees generally vary from US$1,000 to US$750,000 (or the applicable currency equivalent) per issue. In certain cases, Fitch will rate all or a number of issues issued by a particular issuer, or insured or guaranteed by a particular insurer or guarantor, for a single annual fee.
