KEY RATING DRIVERS

Updated Rating Approach: In the update of its Global Structured Finance Rating Criteria on 19 January 2024, Fitch has revised its analytical approach in the interest deferability of notes. Fitch may assign ratings up to 'AA+sf' to notes where Fitch assesses that interest deferrals will be fully repaid pursuant to the terms of the documents and by the legal final maturity. This change has an indirect impact on how Fitch assesses payment interruption risk (PIR), which we now view as immaterial for bonds up to 'AA+sf' (versus prior 'A+sf') when interest payments on the bonds can be deferred without causing an event of default.

The upgrades of TDA CAM 9 class A and B notes reflect the new PIR assessment, as interest deferability is permitted under transaction documentation for all rated classes and does not constitute an event of default. Other mitigants against PIR include collections being transferred to the transaction account bank (TAB) within two days and the collection account bank being also an operational continuity bank. The transaction is still not compatible with a 'AAAsf' rating, as is still exposed to PIR in case of servicer disruption, as its reserve fund has been volatile in the past and it is only at 62% of its target amount.

Rating Cap Lifted: Other relevant changes to the criteria include the removal of a condition from our base case related to the 'excessiveness' of the deferral interest amount, which had capped the ratings of notes with such deferrals at 'BB+sf'. The upgrades of CAM 7 class B notes, and CAM 8 and 9 class B and C notes reflect the removal of the deferral cap under the new criteria, as their deferrals are fully recoverable by their legal maturity date, are a common structural feature in the Spanish RMBS market and the prospectus includes a defined mechanism for the repayment of deferred amounts.

Neutral Asset Performance Outlook: The rating actions reflect our expectation of a neutral asset performance, consistent with low levels of unemployment and expected gradual reduction in inflation. Moreover, the transactions have a low share of loans in arrears over 90 days (less than 0.7% according to the last trustee investor reports) and are protected by the substantial seasoning of the portfolios (more than 17 years). However, sine volatility in the asset performance is still expected as per current weaker affordability of the underlying borrowers.

Adequate Credit Enhancement (CE) Protection: The rating actions reflect Fitch's view that the notes are sufficiently protected by CE to absorb the projected losses commensurate with their ratings. For CAM 7 and 9, we expect CE ratios to continue increasing due to the prevailing sequential amortisation of the notes, although in CAM 9 the built-up trend of the RF may reduce the RF target to its floor level (subject to certain performance-based triggers). For CAM 6 and 8, we expect CEs to materially increase as their respective RFs are at their floor level and their amortisation system will switch to sequential once their portfolio balances fall below 10% of their initial balances.

CAM 9 is still exposed to PIR due to its volatile RF in the past not providing enough liquidity to cover PIR amounts, which has resulted in a change to the rating of at least one category.

RATING SENSITIVITIES

Factors that Could, Individually or Collectively, Lead to Negative Rating Action/Downgrade

-For 'AAAsf' notes, a downgrade to Spain's Long-Term Issuer Default Rating (IDR) that could decrease the maximum achievable rating for Spanish structured finance transactions

-CE ratios unable to fully compensate the credit losses and cash flow stresses associated with the current ratings, all else being equal, will also result in downgrades. An increase in the weighted average foreclosure frequency (WAFF) and a decrease in the WA recovery rate (RR) each by 15% would result in downgrades of up to three notches in CAM 6 and 7 class B notes, of no more than one notch for CAM 9 class C notes, and up to two notches for CAM 8 class C notes.

Factors that Could, Individually or Collectively, Lead to Positive Rating Action/Upgrade

-Notes rated at 'AAAsf' are rated at the highest level on Fitch's scale and cannot be upgraded

-For CAM 9 class A notes, improved liquidity protection against payment interruption risk

-Increases in CE ratios as the transactions deleverage to fully compensate the credit losses and cash flow stresses commensurate with higher ratings may result in upgrades. A decrease in the WAFF of 15% and an increase in the WARR of 15% would result in upgrades of up to three notches in CAM 6 and 7 class B notes, two and six notches for CAM 9 class B and C notes, respectively, and four notches in CAM 8 class B and C notes.

USE OF THIRD PARTY DUE DILIGENCE PURSUANT TO SEC RULE 17G -10

Form ABS Due Diligence-15E was not provided to, or reviewed by, Fitch in relation to this rating action.

DATA ADEQUACY

Fitch has checked the consistency and plausibility of the information it has received about the performance of the asset pools and the transactions. Fitch has not reviewed the results of any third-party assessment of the asset portfolio information or conducted a review of origination files as part of its ongoing monitoring.

Fitch did not undertake a review of the information provided about the underlying asset pools ahead of the transactions' initial closing. The subsequent performance of the transactions over the years is consistent with the agency's expectations given the operating environment and Fitch is therefore satisfied that the asset pool information relied upon for its initial rating analysis was adequately reliable.

Overall, and together with any assumptions referred to above, Fitch's assessment of the information relied upon for the agency's rating analysis according to its applicable rating methodologies indicates that it is adequately reliable.

ESG Considerations

TDA CAM 9, FTA has an ESG Relevance Score of '5' for Transaction & Collateral Structure due to PIR, which has a negative impact on the credit profile, and is highly relevant to the rating, resulting in a rating cap of 'AA+sf'.

The highest level of ESG credit relevance is a score of '3', unless otherwise disclosed in this section. A score of '3' means ESG issues are credit-neutral or have only a minimal credit impact on the entity, either due to their nature or the way in which they are being managed by the entity. Fitch's ESG Relevance Scores are not inputs in the rating process; they are an observation on the relevance and materiality of ESG factors in the rating decision. In issuing and maintaining its ratings and in making other reports (including forecast information), Fitch relies on factual information it receives from issuers and underwriters and from other sources Fitch believes to be credible. Fitch conducts a reasonable investigation of the factual information relied upon by it in accordance with its ratings methodology, and obtains reasonable verification of that information from independent sources, to the extent such sources are available for a given security or in a given jurisdiction. The manner of Fitch's factual investigation and the scope of the third-party verification it obtains will vary depending on the nature of the rated security and its issuer, the requirements and practices in the jurisdiction in which the rated security is offered and sold and/or the issuer is located, the availability and nature of relevant public information, access to the management of the issuer and its advisers, the availability of pre-existing third-party verifications such as audit reports, agreed-upon procedures letters, appraisals, actuarial reports, engineering reports, legal opinions and other reports provided by third parties, the availability of independent and competent third-party verification sources with respect to the particular security or in the particular jurisdiction of the issuer, and a variety of other factors. Users of Fitch's ratings and reports should understand that neither an enhanced factual investigation nor any third-party verification can ensure that all of the information Fitch relies on in connection with a rating or a report will be accurate and complete. Ultimately, the issuer and its advisers are responsible for the accuracy of the information they provide to Fitch and to the market in offering documents and other reports. In issuing its ratings and its reports, Fitch must rely on the work of experts, including independent auditors with respect to financial statements and attorneys with respect to legal and tax matters. Further, ratings and forecasts of financial and other information are inherently forward-looking and embody assumptions and predictions about future events that by their nature cannot be verified as facts. As a result, despite any verification of current facts, ratings and forecasts can be affected by future events or conditions that were not anticipated at the time a rating or forecast was issued or affirmed. Fitch Ratings makes routine, commonly-accepted adjustments to reported financial data in accordance with the relevant criteria and/or industry standards to provide financial metric consistency for entities in the same sector or asset class.

The complete span of best- and worst-case scenario credit ratings for all rating categories ranges from 'AAA' to 'D'. Fitch also provides information on best-case rating upgrade scenarios and worst-case rating downgrade scenarios (defined as the 99th percentile of rating transitions, measured in each direction) for international credit ratings, based on historical performance. A simple average across asset classes presents best-case upgrades of 4 notches and worst-case downgrades of 8 notches at the 99th percentile.
